Kicking off the weekend, luxury Belgian chocolate brand Godiva will pop up on Covent Garden’s East Piazza from Monday 15th to Monday 22nd April, with a Godiva Easter Garden, featuring a giant ball pit. Visitors will be able to search for a golden egg in the ball pit, with lucky winners able to claim a chocolate prize from the Covent Garden store.

Home to London’s best culinary experiences, including The Ivy Market Grill, Petersham Nurseries and Balthazar, to name a few, Covent Garden is the number one dining destination this Easter, with many restaurants featuring exclusive menus, ideal for chocoholics and dessert lovers. Those who book a table at Covent Garden’s Frenchie will have the chance to taste a limited-edition chocolate dessert, with just 100 available for diners over the Easter Weekend. From 19th – 22nd April, The Ivy Market Grill will welcome the ‘Easter Egger’, a white chocolate mousse with passion fruit and mango. On April 14th, Covent Garden’s Olivia Burton will host a biscuit decorating workshop from 12-4pm, in partnership with Honeywell Biscuit Company. For edible Easter gifts for the whole family, Balthazar’s bakery team will offer a selection of handmade chocolate eggs and hot cross buns, as well as their famous half chocolate egg, stuffed with a selection of truffles and Nougat of Montélimar. For decadent Easter treats and a twist on French pastry classics, Ladurée will wow visitors with exclusive white chocolate and yuzu macarons from Japanese chef Morihide Yoshida. During this time Covent Garden’s Apple Store will host their Apple Easter Family Camp series with daily workshops and activities. Aladdin enthusiasts can also visit the store on 12th and 19th April for exclusive performances from the theatre cast who will perform ‘A Whole New World’, followed by an interactive chat from the production team.
